

HIGH FIVE

THE GOLDEN GAUNTLET

- 30 chits

Any set of small items such as coins, wooden cubes, stones, etc. can be used as chits. The chits do not all need to be the same. They should be small enough that three chits can fit comfortably on each card.

- 1 first-player token

Any distinctive object can be used as a first-player token. A trophy would be a particularly appropriate choice, the bigger the better.

- 10 competitor tokens

If you prefer, you can use chess pieces in place of the competitor tokens.

Each player will need two matching pieces (for these purposes, the king and queen are a matched pair) per competitor on their team.

You will place one piece on each competitor card and use the matching piece to track that competitor's position throughout each round.

Mark the points that you score during each round on your score card.

Furthermore, at the end of Round 3, three points will be awarded to each competitor for each column of their trait matrix that they completed during the game.

Place	1	2	3	4	5
Points	5	4	3	2	1

At the end of each round, points will be awarded to the top five finishers as follows:

SCORING

1. Award points to the top five finishers.
 2. Remove all chits from all competitor cards.
 3. Perform steps 7-9 of the Set Up to prepare a new obstacle course for the next round.
- Each round ends when five competitors have faced the final obstacle. After each round:

ROUND END AND CLEAN UP

SET UP

1. Place each card inside a card sleeve.
2. Give one score card and one whiteboard marker to each player.
3. Choose a side of the play area to be "North".
4. Deal five competitor cards to each player.
5. For each competitor card, choose which side you want to use and place the card on the table in front of you with that side facing up.
6. Randomly decide who will go first. Give that player the first-player token.
7. Shuffle the challenge cards. Be sure to randomize both the order and the orientations of the cards.
8. Place the challenge cards in a single row running from west to east in the middle of the play area.
9. Place the competitor tokens for your competitors in the play area just to the south of the westmost challenge card.

OVERVIEW

High Five: The Golden Gauntlet is a two-player strategy game about an elaborate athletics competition that you might see on a reality game show.

This game can be played in about one hour and is designed for players who are at least twelve years old.

During the game you will guide a team of five competitors as they navigate a series of three obstacle courses.

At the end of each round, you will be awarded points based on your team's performance.

Outscore your opponent to win the game and claim the coveted Golden Gauntlet.

FACING OBSTACLES

When one of your competitors faces an obstacle, do the following:

1. Count how many gems on that competitor's card match the color of the obstacle they are facing. Let m denote the number of matches.
2. Move the competitor forward to the next obstacle. Then, you must either:

Assist Others: Bring up to m other competitors with you when you move. For every one of your opponent's competitors that you bring with you, you may either:

- Place one chit on your competitor's card. Each competitor card can have at most three chits on it at any time.
- Mark one trait point on your competitor's card that matches the trait of the obstacle that they faced.

Bypass Obstacles: Spend up to m chits to travel further when you move. Bypass one obstacle per chit spent.

COMPONENTS

- 18 two-sided cards
 - 10 competitor cards
 - 6 obstacle cards
 - 2 score cards
- 18 card sleeves
- 2 whiteboard markers

You will use these markers to write on the card sleeves throughout the game. If you prefer, you can instead use pencils to write on the cards directly.

GAMEPLAY

A complete game consists of three rounds.

During each round, you will your team of competitors will navigate an obstacle course.

SEGMENTS

Each round is divided into segments.

Starting with the player who has the first-player token, take turns choosing one of your competitors to face an obstacle.

After a competitor faces an obstacle, turn their competitor card sideways to indicate that they are exhausted. You may not activate a competitor who is exhausted.

Each segment ends when all of the competitors are exhausted. At the end of each segment:

1. Whoever has the first-player token should pass it to the other player.
2. Restore all of the competitor cards to their original rotations.
